

Armen Agop

Armen Agop was born in Cairo, Egypt in 1969. By the time he was 13 he would apprentice in the studio of the painter Simon Shahrigan before attending the Faculty of the Fine Arts at Helwan University in Cairo. After graduating, he received an assistant researcher scholarship at the faculty of the fine arts from 1997-2000. Agop began to exhibit his work in many diverse shows throughout Egypt and received the Sculpture Prize from the Autumn Salon in 1998. His national recognition was confirmed in 2000 when he received the prestigious Rome Prize.

Since moving to Europe, Agop has been increasingly present in the international art scene with exhibitions across Asia, the Middle East and Europe. His works are represented in the Egyptian Modern Art Museum, Egypt, Aswan Open Air Museum, Egypt, Mathaf, Arab Museum of Modern Art, Qatar, Villa Empain/Bohossian Foundation in Belgium, Giardino di Piazza Stazione Barge, Italy, and Coral Springs Museum of Art in Florida, USA.

In 2010, he received the international Umberto Mastroianni award and in 2013 was awarded the Presidential Metal of the Italian Republic.

Today, Armen Agop lives and works in Pietrasanta, Italy.
